WEDNESDAY EVENING, JULY 20.

assembly are not consistent. They would restrict the liberty of an employer to conduct his own business as he may think proper, but will not submit to the restriction imposed by others in matters relating to their own personal liberty.

SINCE it has been discovered that Stanley stole all his company's money and deserted the Confederate army, most people of experience will be disposed to take the part of Du Chailu on the numerous questions of veracity that have arisen between these two African explorers, for nothing is better known than the fact that a thief will not hesitate at falsehood.

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Correspondence of the ALEX. GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 20, 1887.

The Petersburg Index-Appel, published at the home of ex-Senator Mahone, chairman of the republican State committee, having lately printed a statement to the effect that Hon. John S. Barbour, chairman of the democratic State committee, was in open hostility to the administration of President Cleveland, the GAZETTE's correspondent to-day gives the news and the truth pertaining to this mischievous matter. The editor of the paper referred to being neither a humorist nor a Baron Munchausen, it is regarded as wonderful that such a publication should have appeared in the columns of his able independent journal. The simple answer to the statement is that it is not correct. Chairman John S. Barbour's relations with the Cleveland administration are of the most friendly nature. He, John W. Daniel, and all the other leaders of the democratic party have from time to time complained of the slow-going methods of the Departments of Government in turning unworthy republicans out and putting deserving democrats in their places. But such complaints, which have been common with all the democratic leaders, have never been carried by any of them beyond the point of friendly admonition on the one hand or energetic perseverance on the other in the pursuit of official patronage properly belonging to democrats. John S. Barbour is to-day the sole Virginia, and probably the sole Southerner, whom Samuel J. Tilden advised President-elect Grover Cleveland to take into his Cabinet. President Cleveland remembers and Jno. S. Barbour is not without information that this great honor was paid to him, the redeemer of Virginia democracy, by the dying sage of Greystone. This compliment was far richer than the office which Jno. S. Barbour neither sought nor would at the time have accepted. As the head of the Virginia delegation at Chicago his support of Mr. Cleveland's nomination was felt in a powerful degree on all the Southern representatives. The conqueror of Mahone was not without influence at that great gathering of national democrats. After the nomination came an arduous and hard-fought campaign, but Barbour held the State to Cleveland, although the vote for Blaine was bigger by more than twenty-five thousand than that which a year before had been cast for the defeated democratic candidate for Governor. A little later, and John S. Barbour, at the State convention which made Lee Governor, favored and assisted in the adoption of resolutions endorsing the administration. As to official and public affairs in Virginia, he is fully trusted and constantly advised with by President Cleveland and cabinet. All hands connected with the administration, from the President down, recognize him as the prime organizer and leader of the Virginia democratic forces. They have promised him for the campaign this year every legitimate assistance in their power, and have a firm reliance on his ability to add another victory to those already scored for the democracy of old Virginia.

In respect of the report published in this correspondence of ex-Governor Cameron's editorial connection with the Index Appel, certainly nothing was farther from the correspondent's intention than the manifestation of any unfriendliness whatsoever to that journal. The rumor was an interesting one, and remembering Col. Cameron's editorship of the paper in past years, was noted simply as a report, and for what it might be worth.

The Virginia democratic association of this city has determined not to meet again until the 26th proximo. After that date it will resume its regular weekly meetings, and work unremittently for the election of a democratic legislature in Virginia next fall. A South Carolinian has been appointed Chief Clerk of the Patent Office, vice Mr. Durfee, removed. Mr. Du-ye, though an offensive republican politician, has been retained in office up to this time despite the urgent protests of Virginia democrats. He holds from the 8th Virginia district, but is not known there.

Mr. Aleck Shepherd, who has recently returned from Mexico where he has been working a silver mine is now being made quite a lion of here. Times change and men with them. It was only a short time ago that the "Shepherd ring" were the most roundly abused men in the city. People in the city to-day from the lower Potomac country, say the storm that swept over that section on Monday evening was the most severe within the memory of the present generation. Some of the small buildings were unroofed, trees torn up by the roots, and the corn not only prostrated but broken off close to the ground, and consequently ruined. Near Matthias's Point the wind blew so hard that some of the colored people vacated their houses and ran to the woods for protection. At the light house there, large boards were blown from the platform, and at Upper Cedar Point light house, oars, rudders and other things were blown out of the boats.

A gentleman interested in the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad here to-day, says the dry dock and other extensive improvements at Newport News, the eastern terminus of that road, are in rapid progress of construction, and that Mr. Huntington is already negotiating for the purchase of another fast line of steamers to run between that port and Liverpool.

It is said here that none of the staff of the commander of the newly organized militia of the District of Columbia is from the South, or even an old resident of the District, but that most of them are office holders here from the North. This fact is the occasion of some comment among the District people.

Intelligence has been received at the State

Department here to the effect that the Belgian government has increased the tariff on cattle and meat, and that after the first of next year no meat will be permitted to enter Belgium except with the lungs of the animal attached.

Assistant Secretary Maynard to-day gave a hearing to representatives of importers of Sumatra tobacco and of growers of domestic leaf tobacco in regard to the general question of the proper method of determining the dutiable value of Sumatra tobacco. Mr. Maynard promised to give the matter thorough consideration.

The Presidential party arrived here safe and sound this morning, apparently improved in health by their trip. The President was in his office soon after he reached the White House, busily engaged in his usual routine work.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

The Bristol Reporter records the death of a daughter of Attorney General Ayers.

There were twelve deaths in Norfolk and Portsmouth from the recent intense heat.

Mr. John W. H. Porter, editor of the Portsmouth Enterprise, was overcome by heat yesterday while going to his office, but recovered.

Mr. Alexander McDonald Cowan, of Farmville, well known throughout the State as a journalist, died on Saturday last, aged sixty-eight. He was a native of Staunton.

It is understood from a reliable source that since the first day of January last upwards of $10,000 in coupons have either been received into the State treasury or tendered in payment for liquor and other licenses.

The democrats of Lynchburg in mass meeting the other night unanimously adopted a resolution inviting the President and Mrs. Cleveland to visit that city next October, either while going to or returning from Atlanta.

An effort is to be made to get other Southern States to contribute something annually to the Confederate Soldiers' Home at Richmond. There are now more applications for accommodation at this institution than can find quarters at the home.

Many owners of vineyards in Albemarle county speak of the grape crop as a total failure already. It is true that the rot has attacked many large vineyards and that the disease is very virulent and spreading very rapidly, yet it is hardly as bad as a total failure.

At the meeting of business men of Danville held yesterday to take steps to prosecute before the Inter-State Commerce Commission the charges of discrimination in freight charges by the Richmond and Danville Railroad against that city, Colonel Cabell was authorized to go to Washington to protect Danville's interest if necessary.

Monday night a colored boy and girl, children of Frank Edwards, a fisherman, who lives on the Ocean View property, about eight miles from Norfolk, were drowned while bathing, having, it is supposed, gotten beyond their depth. The first intimation of the disaster was the finding of their bodies, which were washed ashore not far from the hotel.

A terrific cyclone passed over part of Stafford county on Monday evening. The damage done, however, was principally confined to Marlboro' farm, the property of Mr. Henry Edwards, on the Potomac river. Scarcely a tree is left standing on the place. Stacks of wheat were blown away, and a field of 250 acres of corn is cut down as if mowed by a scythe. The bathhouse containing the fishing outfit of Capt. James M. Ewing, of Havre de Grace, was blown into the river. His loss will be heavy.

At a meeting of the directors of the Virginia Construction Company, held in Richmond yesterday, arrangements were made for pushing ahead the construction of the road from Memphis to Jackson. The officers elected were: J. B. Pace, president; T. C. Leake, jr., vice-president and general manager; E. D. Christian, second vice president; R. H. Temple, chief engineer; S. E. Snead, secretary, and Paul L. Jones, treasurer. A contract was directed to be made with the Tennessee Midland Railway Company for the construction of its road, 135 miles, to be completed from Memphis to Jackson by January next, and to Tennessee river by next spring.

Death of Hon. R. M. T. Hunter.

Hon. R. M. T. Hunter died at his home, Point Hill, Essex county, on Sunday last. He had been in failing health for some time and his death was not altogether unexpected, though it will be none the less lamented.

Robert Mercer Taliaferro Hunter was born in Essex county, April 21, 1809. He graduated at the University of Virginia, studied law, and commenced his practice in his native county in 1830. He voted for Jackson in 1832, and was elected to the Legislature of Virginia in 1833. He was chosen representative to Congress in 1837. His first speech in that body was in favor of the Independent Treasury and against a National Bank. He also took strong grounds in opposition to the protective policy of Mr. Clay, and in all his subsequent career was an able advocate of free trade. In 1839 he was chosen Speaker of the House of Representatives, and for his dignified and impartial discharge of its duties received at the close of the term, in 1841, a unanimous vote of thanks. He favored the election of James K. Polk, and supported his policy with regard to Texas and the tariff. The warehousing system which was first incorporated in the Tariff bill was originated and drawn up by Mr. Hunter. He was elected in 1847 to the United States Senate, in which he served through two full terms, and was elected for a third term, ending in 1865. He supported the Douglas Kansas-Nebraska bill in 1854, and the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution in 1858. In 1860 Mr. Hunter was a prominent candidate for the democratic nomination to the Presidency, and at the convention at Charleston received on several ballots the next highest vote to that of Mr. Douglas. He was Secretary of State of the Southern Confederacy from July, 1861, to February, 1862, and was one of the two Senators who represented Virginia in the Confederate State Senate at Richmond from February, 1862, to 1865. He was also a member of the peace commission which met Abraham Lincoln in Hampton Roads. In 1875 he was elected State Treasurer to succeed Joseph Mayo, Jr. Upon retiring from this office he returned to his home in Essex county, and was for a short time collector of the port at Tappahannock.

ELEVATOR BURNED.—The St. Anthony elevator, one of the largest in the northwest, located two miles from Minneapolis, Minn., caught fire at 7:30 yesterday evening. The elevator was a triple structure, connected by a tramway, and had a capacity of 2,700,000 bushels. The buildings were all destroyed with their contents, about 1,100,000 bushels of wheat. The loss on buildings and machinery is about $250,000; loss on grain, $825,000. The insurance on the wheat is not known.

Mr. Wm. Southgate, an aged citizen and formerly cashier of the Bank of Virginia, at Norfolk, was overcome by heat yesterday morning at his residence, and falling to the floor immediately expired.

TO-DAY'S TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

A Desperate Murderer.

OIL CITY, Pa., July 20.—Shortly before 12 o'clock last night John McNierney, a laborer, beat his wife to death, fatally shot his son John, aged 21 years, for interfering in behalf of his mother, and then shot Officer James, who tried to arrest him, in the groin, inflicting a fatal wound. Officers Warden and Henderson then came to the assistance of James and soon brought the desperate man down with a shot through his back. After disarming him the officers entered the house where a sickening sight met their gaze. Mrs. McNierney was found in one corner of the room dead, her face and head completely smashed to a jelly, the room bespattered with blood and brains, supposed to have been inflicted with a shot gun stock. Physicians were speedily upon the spot, and upon examination of Officer James' and young McNierney's wounds pronounced them fatal. The wound of McNierney, sr., is not necessarily fatal. There was no witness to the affair except the son, who is unable to speak. McNierney is said to have been intoxicated at the time, and from all that can be learned was abusing his wife, when the son went to her assistance.

Assassinated.

CAVE-IN-ROCK, HARDIN CO., Ill., July 20.—James D. Belt, while riding along the road on horseback Sunday evening about five miles from this place, was assassinated by unknown persons, nine buckshot being fired into his head. Belt was a half-brother of Logan Belt, who was killed in the same manner and near the same place on the evening of June 7. Logan Belt was a man of wealth, but a notorious character and the leader of a faction in Hardin county somewhat similar to that existing in two or three Kentucky counties, the opposing faction being known as the Oldham party. Whether James Belt was connected with either is not stated, but there is a suspicion that he was killed by some of the Oldham faction. Logan Belt killed one of the Oldham men ten years ago in a broil at the latter's house, and ever since then a bitter enmity has existed between their relatives and friends which seems now to have culminated in the killing of both the Belts. The whole community is much excited over the double event.

Hail and Cyclone.

WABASH, Ind., July 20.—A genuine hail cyclone passed through the northern part of the county yesterday, doing an immense amount of damage. The storm came from the west through Miami county and crossed the Lake Erie and Western railway at a point between Denver and Peru. Its path through this county was from two to three miles and in that space no vegetation escaped. The hail was phenomenal every way. The stones were of the size of hen eggs and could be gathered up by the bushel after the storm. A great number of fine forest trees were broken off and piled up in an interminable mass. Not a field of grain escaped destruction in the pathway of the storm. The corn was riddled and stripped of the ears and silk. Oats were threshed out and the stalks driven into the earth. Apples, melons, grapes and all small fruits and vegetables were cut to pieces and nothing can be saved.

A Novel Sight.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 20.—A novel sight was witnessed here yesterday as the result of the high temperature of the past three weeks. Some time ago a firm received a consignment of eggs packed in boxes after the usual manner. The eggs were placed in storage, and yesterday morning the consignee had occasion to open the case. When the lid was removed the low call of chicks sounded in his ears. One entire layer of eggs was found to be hatching out and in a few minutes after the eggs were brought to the light fifteen well developed "orphans" picked their way through the shells. Another layer of eggs began to hatch out about noon and it now looks as though the entire consignment will hatch.

A Bank Vice-President in Jail.

DAYTON, Ohio, July 20.—E. L. Harper, vice-president of the Fidelity National Bank of Cincinnati was brought here at ten o'clock last evening. Harper came in charge of Deputy U. S. Marshal Costello, accompanied by Mrs. Harper, their child, son-in-law Harris and Harper's sister, Mrs. Matthews. He was locked up in one of the common cells where are also another U. S. prisoner and three noted thieves. He will be subject to prison rules and strictly held in jail ward No. 2, and will be locked up at 5 p. m. in a steel cell and in the day time he allowed the range of the corridor of that ward only. Mrs. Harper, child and rest of her party are at the Phillips House across the street from the jail.

Charged with Infanticide.

MONCTON, N. B., July 20.—An unmarried woman named Ross, mother of three children, all of whom are now dead, has been arrested at Carquet, charged with infanticide. She forced a spoon down the throat of her child, and when an attempt was made to extricate it it broke, one part remaining in the child's throat. The infant died after suffering terrible agony. It is now suspected that the woman made away with her other two children, who died a short time ago.

France and Prince Ferdinand.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 20.—France will not acknowledge Prince Ferdinand of Saxa-Coburg-Gotha as ruler of Bulgaria because Roumelians were permitted to vote in the Sobranje for his election.

Russian Negotiations.

BOMBAY, July 20.—Natives report that Russia is secretly negotiating with the government of Yarkand, in Chinese Turkestan, for permission to pass troops across the country.

A Big Fire Near Jersey City.

NEW JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 20.—A fire started in the Standard oil works at Constable Hook at half-past twelve last night. The flames spread, and half of the town, including all the factories, was threatened. The fire at 10 a. m. was under control. The loss is estimated at about $1,500,000, ten thousand barrels of oil having been destroyed.

Assaulted and Robbed.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 20.—While postmaster Burgoyne, of Mahone Bay, was making change for a stranger this morning the latter knocked him senseless with a club. The stranger then seized a cash box containing $300, and escaped. Mr. Burgoyne will probably die.

Fatal Accident.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 20.—Andrew Williams and Robert West were killed and Robert Williams, brother of the first named, fatally injured by a tree falling on their buggy yesterday afternoon fifteen miles south of here as they were returning from a funeral.

Tax Bill Passed.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 20.—The bill taxing wine rooms ten thousand dollars passed the House to-day by the requisite majority. It is thought that the Senate will pass it also.

Strike.

LITCHFIELD, Ill., July 20.—Five hundred employees of the Litchfield car and machine works struck yesterday for a fortnightly instead of a monthly pay day.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The royal assent was given in the British House of Lords yesterday to the Irish Crimes Act.

Queen Kapiolani and the remainder of the Hawaiian royal party sailed from San Francisco yesterday on the steamship Australia for Honolulu.

Justice Field, of the U. S. Supreme Court, decides that Mrs. Langtry must appear in court in person in San Francisco if she desires to perfect her citizenship. Her former declaration was made at her residence.

In a number of parliamentary contests yesterday the Gladstonians made gains. The differences between the liberal unionists and the conservatives regarding the land bill have, according to Lord Salisbury, been satisfactorily adjusted.

During a heavy thunder storm which passed over portions of Prince Anne county, Md., yesterday, lightning struck the house of James Ent, at the head of Wicomico Creek, killing Mrs. Ent and Dr. Wolverton instantly, and stunning Mr. Ent. Dr. Wolverton was a resident of New Jersey, and was on a visit to Mr. Ent.

Some agitation exists among the negroes at Atlanta, Ga., over a slight to the colored teachers by the management of the Peabody Institute. All the colored teachers failed to attend, although Gov. Gordon was present to deliver the opening address. The negroes fancied that they had been insulted by School Commissioner Orr, but now realize their mistake, and all will go smoothly as ever.

OFFICIAL.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

At an adjourned meeting of the Board of Aldermen held July 19, 1887, there were present: Henry Strauss, esp., President, and Messrs. Agnew, Burke, Laundin, Marlbury, Bryant and Leadbeater.

A communication from the Mayor in response to a resolution of Council asking him for a report of any charges made against any member of the police force, was received and read.

The board proceeded to the chamber of the Common Council for the purpose of going into an election for corporation officers, and upon their return adjourned.

Teste: JNO. J. JAMIESON, Clerk.

'COMMON COUNCIL.

At a adjourned meeting of the Common Council of the city of Alexandria, held on the 19th day of July, 1887, there were present: John T. Sweeney, esp., President, and Messrs. W. S. Moore, Alchanson, Snowden, Clarence Moore, Fisher, Groun, Whiting, E. F. Corbett, Hinken, L. W. Corbett, Smoot, Strider, Bayne, Germond and Kelley.

A communication from the Mayor in response to an inquiry of the City Council with reference to the standing of the individual members of the police force was received from the Board of Aldermen and their action thereon concurred in.

On motion the Board of Aldermen were invited to meet this board in joint convention for the purpose of electing city officers, and the invitation being accepted and the two boards being in joint convention assembled, the following persons having received a majority of the votes of the joint convention were declared elected to the offices hereinafter respectively named, to wit:

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The stock market opened very dull but strong this morning, first prices showing advances over yesterday's final figures of from 1/4 to 1/2 per cent. A fair business was transacted in Richmond and West Point, but most stocks were extremely dull. Prices continued firm in the early dealings and a general advance of from 1/4 to 1/2 per cent. was made. There was a marked decrease in the trading in the active stocks late in the hour and quotations yielded slightly. The market displayed no special feature and at 11 o'clock was very dull and barely steady, generally a shade above first prices. Money easy at 4 1/2.
